Event Summary

The TARC team gave a presentation on the TARC 2025 project and concepts to a New Albany audience. Key questions included the amount of transit funding that Indiana communities provide, the equity implications of a network redesign and whether TARC can make it easier for low-income people to access fare paying mediums. TARC was also invited by an audience member to do a future TARC 2025 presentation at the Floyd County Library, which was scheduled for two weeks later.
